Our Story

In early 2020, at the height of COVID-19, government, health authorities, and other critical end-users faced major difficulties in securing a stable and affordable supply of personal protective equipment (PPE).

The urgent call for Canadian manufacturers to produce PPE to combat COVID-19 was answered by Surrey manufacturers. As home to one of Canada's largest manufacturing sectors, Surrey rallied its base to become the first municipality in North America to launch – Surrey makes PPE; a PPE manufacturing program with a local network of producers with the capacity, speed and experience to pivot and supply PPE.
